

Jon Cokley

Jon Cokley is in his second year at Hampton University School of Pharmacy. He is currently working as a part time employee for Walgreen's, and as a summer intern for Wal-Mart pharmacy. In the fall he plans to join the Hampton University chapter of the American Pharmacists Association (APhA). He is passionate about improving the standards of healthcare, and has interests in helping patients to use preventative measures for disease, rather than focusing on treatments.

His belief is that if it is possible, the best cure is to prevent the disease from occurring. After graduation, he hopes to pursue further studies in either pediatrics or geriatrics.
